Hey there! Thanks for reaching out about our venue. We are located just outside of a very small town and book a limited number of shows each year. We rely heavily on top-notch press kits in order to promote our shows, and we've seen a direct correlation in press kits and ticket sales. We believe our job at McNemar House is to fill as many seats as possible for the artists that we book, so we have recently begun jurying artists and confirming that they meet the promotional requirements before booking to ensure that we can make each and every show a success. If we don't think we can book you here this in no way means that we don't love your music! Our recent increase in booking inquiries has required us to take these measures in order to select the artists we can best serve here at our venue. While we haven't cancelled our current bookings that don't meet the new requirements, going forward all artists must meet the criteria below for jury consideration. Thanks again for contacting us. We look forward to receiving your submission.

Truly,

Heather McNemar, Venue Owner
